Marketing Officer (temporary)

Salary circa £17k pa pro rata depending on experience

3 month contract with possibility of extension

Full or part time position

We are seeking a temporary marketing officer to support our marketing team on key projects. Working to the head of marketing, you will assist the team with planning and implementation of a new literature festival and a market research programme, amongst other projects. You will have at least one year's experience of marketing, preferably in an arts environment.

This is an exciting time to work at the Bluecoat, which reopened in March following a £12.5 million redevelopment project that restored the historic fabric of the beautiful Grade 1 listed building and created new galleries and performance space. The Bluecoat offers visitors a unique way to participate in the arts from production to consumption. Working here could allow you to truly contribute to Liverpool's year as European Capital of Culture in 2008 at one of its premier arts spaces.

The position will be offered full/part time for at least 3 months with a salary of c£17,000 depending on experience. The contract will commence as soon as practicable.
