

BLUECOAT LAUNCH POEM
The Windows Project: March 15th 2008

SNAKES TAKE BIG THINGS NEAR CLEAN ORCHARDS IN WINTER.

MONKEYS TUMBLE IN DRUMS FOR KIPPERS,
WHIMSICALLY LOVING VIOLINS QUIVERING IN THE LIGHT BREEZE.

YES! – LIKEABLE EXCITEMENT –
UNLESS THE COLOURFUL INCLUSIVENESS MANAGES MYSTERY
EVERYWHERE.

MIRACLES – VERY GOOD FOR GIVING CHARITIES GREAT HAPPINESS
AND MAGIC OPPORTUNITIES.

START LOVING FRIENDLY, KIND, AFFECTIONATE, SWEET MUMMIES.

CLOUDS LEAN BEAUTIFULLY AGAINST RAIN UNDER HOPE'S RAYS
ILLUMINATING THE OPEN BLOOMS.

Created by participants in the Garden Room and the Courtyard
Led by Eleanor Rees, Michelle Sakim, Siobhan Twomey and Dave Ward
