The Negligent Eye

Sat 8 Mar - Sun 15 Jun Open daily 10am - 6pm. Free

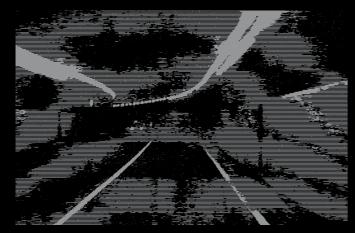

Christiane Baumgartner, Thomas Bewick, Jyll Bradley, Maurice Carlin, Helen Chadwick, Susan Collins, Conroy/ Sanderson, Nicky Coutts, Elizabeth Gossling, Beatrice Haines, Juneau Projects, Laura Maloney, Bob Matthews, London Fieldworks (with the participation of Gustav Metzger), Marilène Oliver, Flora Parrott, South Atlantic Souvenirs, Imogen Stidworthy, Jo Stockham, Wolfgang Tillmans, Alessa Tinne, Michael Wegerer, Rachel Whiteread, Jane & Louise Wilson.

While printmaking has long embraced the digital, there has been a recent acceleration of interest by a younger generation of artists in approaching technology more critically. The Negligent Eye reflects this increasing experimentation with computers, rapid-form and 3D scanning and digital multiplication, through printed, sculptural, video and mixed media work, as well as earlier artworks using reprographic processes, and archival material.

Curated by Jo Stockham, who has researched how overimmersion in the space of the computer creates a sense of estrangement from the world, the exhibition engages with wider questions around the impact of digital technology on our lives. How, for instance, are scanning technologies changing how we picture and experience the world? The barcode, airport body scanners, medical scans and document scanners are all fraught with notions of both revelation and theft, while the extension of digital multiplication into cloning remains contentious.

Stockham observes, 'scanning is riddled with an internal contradiction: is it a close reading or a glance?' In this exhibition she and over 25 UK and international artists, from recent graduates to more established names, explore the ways scans are a particular kind of translation that take many forms. Stockham herself will produce a limited edition print with the Bluecoat Print Studio, which will be on sale during the show.

Exhibition curated by Jo Stockham, Head of Printmaking at the Royal College of Art, London, and developed by the Bluecoat in partnership with the RCA Printmaking Department and the School of Art & Design, Liverpool John Moores University.

Spring at the Bluecoat.

The busy season kicks off with our new exhibition, The Negligent Eye. We are delighted to welcome back the show's curator, Jo Stockham, Royal College of Art professor and previous exhibitor at the Bluecoat (New Sculpture, 1990, and Prototype, 1997).

It's great to see the Bluecoat-originated exhibitions making an impact with audiences nationwide in 2014: 3 am: wonder, paranoia and the restless night is at Chapter, Cardiff until 2 March before visiting Penzance and Hull later this year, and our recent show about marginal landscapes, Soft Estate, opens in March at Spacex, Exeter.

It's an exciting time as we launch Out of the Blue, a programme of art clubs for children in five areas of the city. Some of our Blue Room members, a group of artists with learning disabilities who meet here every week, will be supporting the clubs with their art skills. Out of the Blue has been made possible by a grant from the Paul Hamlyn Foundation and will run for three years in Kensington, Norris Green, Walton, Granby and Anfield.

We are also delighted to launch a new public art work by Nils Norman, whose colourful words on our College Lane entrance are part of our programme to reach out beyond our own walls.

Highlights from this season's varied programme include the Heritage Weekend, with plenty of activity and celebration leading up to the Bluecoat's 300th anniversary in 2017, and i-Scan, a day investigating the creative uses of the scan and exploring some of the themes of The Negligent Eye.

We welcome several new members to our Creative Community this Spring, including traditional letterpress studio Juniper Press, and creative retailers, Inodorem - homemade perfumed candles and diffusers, and The Painted Chair - reworked home furnishings.

I look forward to seeing you here this Spring.

Nils Norman: Words on the Bluecoat's College Lane elevation

The brightly coloured words painted onto the walls and passageway of the Bluecoat are a public art commission by artist Nils Norman that responds to the changing environment of this once overlooked part of the city centre, now transformed by the Liverpool ONE development.

In dialogue with the Bluecoat's staff. Norman drew from the building's life, its history and location to create a cohesive visual approach. Bringing the Bluecoat out on to street, this focuses on and attempts to convey a real sense of place, rather than a product.

A 'Golden Opportunity' commission, funded under Liverpool Arts Regeneration Consortium (LARC)'s Thrive programme. The Bluecoat is grateful to Liverpool City Council for permission to carry out this temporary art installation on our historic building. Thanks to sign painter Ken Bullock and Liverpool ONE for in kind support.
